

Firefly Links

Selected by Donald Ray Burger
Attorney at Law

Firefly links come and go. A link that is valid for months may suddenly disappear. Below are some links to firefly articles I have found on the Web. Click on the descriptive part to go to the link. If that doesn't work, click on the "Text Only Version" and you can at least read the information. Thanks for your patience. If you know of others, e-mail me with the site.

Dr. James E Lloyd's newsletter devoted to Fireflies, The Fireflyer Companion & Letter, is now on the Web. Don't miss this one!

[The premier scientific website on fireflies. From John Foltz, of the University of Florida Entomology Dept. Great pictures. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[A report of August 11, 1945 \(!\) from the Forest Preserve District of Cook County, Illinois, regarding fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Did you know that the state insect of Pennsylvania is the firefly? Check this link by Geobopological to learn more about how Pennsylvania came to select the firefly as its state insect and for pictures and links on fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

The Firefly Files, sponsored by the Museum of Biological Diversity at Ohio State University. A solid collection of facts and interesting pictures by long-time firefly researcher Marc Branham.

[Article on using firefly genes to detect harmful food bacteria. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Research at Oklahoma State University on fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[A report of the Hotaru Project, aimed at rehabilitating the Kohumano River, in Japan, to reintroduce fireflies. "Hotaru" is Japanese for "firefly." Also reports on the Annual Firefly Festival, first held in June 1981. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[An article on University of Kansas researcher Marc A. Branham on mating habits of fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[A Joplin Globe article on research by Univ. of Kansas graduate student Marc Branham. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Transcript of short "Earth and Sky" radio broadcast on fireflies on June 13, 1996. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Short article on NASA project to gather luciferase from fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[An article on the Firefly Festival in Santocho, Japan. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[An interesting article on simulating fireflies in the garden through electricity. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[A pamphlet on viewing fireflies from a Hindu temple. Interesting. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[An article on Synchronous Rhythmic Flashing of Fireflies \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[A report by then 16-year-old Melissa Miao on Fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Neat report on a field trip to the Firefly Village in Japan. Lots of good information. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Interesting article on effect of concrete river banks on firefly reproduction. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[the National Wildlife Refuge Association's article on fireflies. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Firefly article from Wild Happenings of Refuge Net \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

Steve and Cyndi Kirkpatrick's page on fireflies and their garden in California. A really great page.

Bioluminescence Web sites from the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

A report about the efforts of Ogaki, Japan, to reintroduce fireflies to their community.

A major site from England about glowworms.

[An article from the Georgia Wildlife Federation. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

Web Site of the Firefly Park Resort in Kuala Selangor, Malaysia

[Moscow State University Site on Bioluminescence \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Well-written, comprehensive article by Wendy Grossman of the Houston Press about Donald Burger's efforts to bring fireflies back to Houston. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[An interesting site on fireflies in Korea. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

[Article on fireflies by Dr. Michael R. Williams of Mississippi State. \[Click here for Text Only Version\]](#)

Last revised 05/24/00

mail comments to burger@burger.com

[\[Go Back to My Firefly Page\]](#)

[\[Go Back to My Home Page\]](#)